Alberta Election Date June 29

Premier Manning announced Tuesday afternoon that the provincial election would be held Wednesday, June 29. The main reason for the date change was the question raised by the opposition of the validity of members of the legislature doing business with the treasury branches and thus being disqualified in sitting as members. Accusations of gutter politics, character assassinations, and attempts to discredit the work of the government in general during the past twenty years was contained in a fifteen minute radio address.

Jarrow News

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Harvey Denison at Kingston, Ont., at the age of 76 years. Mr. and Mrs. Denison came to the Batt district in 1908 and homesteaded there. She leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, Carl and Ezra, and one daughter, Mrs. A. Friedland, all in Ontario, besides, fourteen grandchildren and many other relatives. To all of these the sympathy of the community is expressed.

Alfred Oratski had the misfortune to get the end of a finger badly smashed while overhauling a tractor last week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Dagg on the birth of a daughter, Debra Louise, at the RCAF station at Holberg, B.C.

Mrs. R. H. Astley of Minburn visited at the Thoroux and Son-off homes for a few days last week.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson on the birth of a daughter at Hardisty hospital on May 12.

Quite a number of Jarrowsites motored to Irma Sunday p.m. and heard the Cannon choir under the able leadership of Mr. Marken, present a wonderful program of Sacred songs.

Norline Skori accompanied by three of her Carmore classmates, Dorothy Brown, Virginia Vold and Betty Walker, spent the week at her home.

Northern Nuggets

(Last Week)

We are sorry to report Mrs. Pert Prosser a hospital patient this week.

Little Susan Allen was the lucky winner of the flash camera raffied by the Grain Club at the dance last week-end.

Mr. Vic Johnson of Wetaskiwin spent the week-end at the E. C. Prior home. His wife and sons returned with him following a short holiday here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen held a family reunion at their home on Sunday when Mr. Allen's cousin, Mrs. Summerville and her son Ross, of B.C., were there for a visit.

Mrs. S. Coultman spent the week-end in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Guy and family of Edmonton visited Orbindale district relatives at the week-end.

Babies Maureen Lukens and Diane Currie were two of the little ones baptized at the Irma United Church on Sunday.

(This Week)

Congratulations to Miss Genevieve Meyer who graduated from the U. of A. with a B.Ed. degree this month.

Mrs. Harley Bars was an Edmonton visitor this week.

Albert Sunday School reopened last Sunday with an enrolment of about 20 youngsters.

Mrs. Ivan Hardy, Mrs. Edgar Jones and Mrs. Ronald Currie are the teachers this year.

We are sorry to report that little Linda Guy has been quite sick with red measles and that Richard Larson has the mumps.

Miss Marjory Coultman was a week-end visitor at her home in the Orbindale district.

Mrs. Ivan Currie is in Mannville hospital for more treatment again this week.

Glen-Coa Gleanings

Mr. E. R. Erickson received a surprise visit last Saturday from his nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stakkel, and of Mt. Vernon, Wash. After several days visit here with relatives and friends, the Stakkel's left for home in the middle of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gulbraa have moved into their home in Irma.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Nilsson paid a visit to Camrose last Wednesday, primarily taking in the special displays at Bethany Sunset home.

Southern Sayings

George Cairns arrived home Monday last after spending the past five weeks in Wainwright hospital. He is getting around on crutches, his leg in a cast up to his waist.

Mrs. A. Long left Monday morning on the train to visit with friends at Hawarden, Sask. (Best of luck and hope you have a good trip).

Card of Thanks

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to all my friends who sent flowers, fruit, cards and letters during my illness and stay in Mannville hospital.

Mrs. Ann Ramsay.

Card of Thanks

I hereby wish to thank all those who so thoughtfully remembered me while I was in hospital, by sending cards and flowers, and by phoning my family and offering to help. It is possible for them to visit me there.

Oskar Steffensen.

WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

A New Breed of Pigs

Farmers will be interested in this new breed which is the result of seven years of testing and selection at the Lacombe Experimental Farm. This pig is white with flop ears which is one way to tell it from the Yorkshire. It is a combination of Landrace, Chester White and Berkshire.

Under test this new breed has been slightly superior to the Yorkshire and it crosses well with the Yorkshire, thus giving a crossbred animal with the advantage of off colors. There will likely be a few of this breed available for next year.

Forage Seed Policies

The Alberta Department of Agriculture has a number of different projects for which they pay half the cost of grass and legume seed for ten acres. These projects include weed control, control or prevention of soil erosion, reclamation of worn out fields, pasture improvement, forage seed production, balanced farming. The assistance is supplied with the intention that these fields be used as demonstrations in the district. Only a limited number of applications can be handled. Anyone wishing to apply must do so through my office where full information is available.

Sheep Shearing School

A one-day school on shearing, handling and management of sheep will be held on the farm of Morton Herbert of Heath on June 2. This day will start at 9:30 a.m. and finish about 3:30 p.m. All those interested should come dressed in work clothes and prepared to take part as this is a working demonstration. There will be a lot of useful information for any sheepsman or potential sheep men so keep the date in mind.

Kinsella News

Mr. and Mrs. G. Peterson attended the Red and White convention Tuesday, May 10 at the Macdonald hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hughes spent last week in Edmonton, and the week-end in Calgary.

Mr. Don Clayton, farm director for C.J.C.A., was in Kinsella recently. His car hit a boulder in the Kinsella road construction and he was delayed and while here visited Mr. B. C. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Overbo went to Killam on Wednesday, May 11, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Oliver Elgaasen of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Easton Powell of Edmonton were recent visitors at the home of Mr. Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Powell.

Marlene Oakes entertained her cousins and other young friends at her fifth birthday party on Monday, May 9.

The new highway is at present being built through the town of Kinsella and causing an upheaval in more ways than one.

Farmers are at last on the land seeding and are very busy making up for lost time and hoping the weatherman favors them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown and Miss Frances Brown were visiting Mr. Brown's mother north of Viking on Sunday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Pedersen (nee Miss Rose Shmyer) of Bonnyville, on the occasion of their marriage on Tuesday, May 10.

The Kinsella RPOE have definitely decided to build a curling rink for next winter.

The W.I. extends an invitation to all grandmothers of Kinsella and district to come to the grandmothers party to be held in the church at 2:30 p.m. on May 28.

EASTERLY ECHOES

The FUA Picnic at Roseberry will be held on June 22 with all the usual interesting events, and maybe more. Watch for further notices.

Paul Nemyo is hitting the high spots and even some of the low ones, too, with a new Farm-all M.

Mrs. Wm. Crabb had her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pyle of Elk Point for a visit over the week-end.

Wherever it is that Archie Cook and his boys go to fish they seem to find the fish biting quite eagerly.

Kenneth Oldham left by plane to the far north where he is working on the construction of a new airport.

Maybe you still have time to take advantage of the good bargains at the sale of home cooking at the Co-op store.

MOTHER'S DAY LAMENT

Alone-alone-alone!—
All my dearest from earth are gone.

A father, always wise and kind;
A pure sweet mother, of noble mind;
A sister in whom I could see no wrong;
Three brothers, stalwart, big and strong;
My precious son, idolized with love;
An ideal husband for wife to have;
All these have left—I am here alone.

Till nearly a hundred years have gone.

I've had my day of love and care,
And faith and hope led everywhere.

Now my days are lone and sad
And faded all the joy I had.

Dear ones, if near or far away,
My light has even gone from day.

No more I'll hear the robin sing
Or see the violet bloom in spring.

But I shall hear sweet heaven's voice,
See heavenly beauty—and rejoice.

Nancy O. Parks.

Perennial grasses should be sown early for good seed

If a good seed crops is expected in the year following seeding, perennial grasses should be sown early. In agreement with previous trends, advantages of early seeding were again indicated in a preliminary trial conducted last year at the Beaverlodge Experimental Station.

In 1953, C. R. Elliott, agronomist in charge of forage crops, sowed creeping red fescue and bromes in rows. The grasses were sown at seven different dates in June and July and their yields in the following year compared. Yields from those sown in July were substantially less than from the June sowings.

June higher
June 4, 10, 18 and 24 and July 8, 16 and 23 were the seeding

Properly timed poultry production said important

REGINA.—Frank Payne, Saskatchewan Poultry Commissioner, has released figures indicating an optimistic future for poultry raisers.

"Available data indicates that both egg producers and poultry meat producers are more conservative this year than last in formulating their production programs," he said.

Figures compiled by the department show the monthly chick hatch since last October, has been consistently below that of a year ago. In the first quarter of the current year there were 12 percent fewer chicks hatched than last year. There were 11 percent fewer turkey eggs in incubators at the end of March this year than on a like date in 1954.

"Canadian storage stocks of poultry meats are at a fairly low level," said the commissioner, and American forecasts are for a slightly lower level of production for 1955. Taking these and other factors into consideration a condition of cautious optimism prevails in the industry.

"A poultry program produced by a properly timed program, good feeding and sound management practices will pay a reasonable return on investment this year," he said.

Home Workshop

If you do not care for fishing there are other ways that this folding seat with back-rest may be enjoyed. It is easy to make too if you use actual-size guides when sawing out the shaped pieces from 1½-square feet of ¾-inch plywood. Tracing diagrams for the parts to make a minnow bucket, boat baiting scoop and the fishing line drier shown in the sketch are all on pattern 421. This pattern will be mailed for 30c or it will be included in the sportsman's packet of patterns for gun rack, duck decoys, pipe rack and a plywood boat that is light enough to carry on top of your car, all for $1.50 postpaid. All these patterns are standard size.

Corner cupboards like or similar in design to the one shown in the sketch above were probably the most widely used built-ins to be found in Early American homes. The increasing popularity of these cupboards in modern homes stems largely from their beauty and utility. Here is a design that combines two of the qualities. The saw lines for the scallops and other irregular shapes are traced directly from the pattern to the wood. The pattern allows for variations in ceiling. Pattern 318 for making the cupboard and 261 for three styles of wall pockets are 30c each if ordered separately. Pattern 261 is included in the packet of five patterns for making Early American Reproductions. Price of the packet is $1.50 postpaid.

Address order to:

Vancouver, B.C.

From the June 24 to the July 8 seedings, yields dropped surprisingly. Creeping red fescue in the following year yielded 644 lbs. per acre from the first sowing and 143 lbs. from the second. Corresponding figures for bromes were 481 lbs. and 159 lbs. Alfalfa immediately following the July 16 seedings resulted in yield increases compared with the July 8 seedings, but in no case did they nearly approach the June sown average.

June sowing of creeping red fescue and bromes would seem then to be the preferred practice in the Peace River region. Important as it is, however, it is one phase only of efficient grass seed production, says Mr. Elliott. Moisture supply at seeding, adequate seed bed preparation and careful seeding procedure are all required for success of the enterprise.

Funny and Otherwise

Hi: "Did you have fun at the party?"

Fl: "Yes, we played musical chairs the hard way."

Hi: "How's that?"

Fl: "Without chairs."

The noon whistle had blown when Murphy shouted, "Has anyone seen me yet?"

Pat: "Sure, Murphy, and you've got it on."

Murphy: "That I have (gazing at the garment), and its a good thing you see, or shore and I'd have gone home without it."

People are funny. They spend more money they don't have to buy things they don't need, to impress folks they don't like.

Two men, neither very bright, were helping to build a house. One kept picking up nails, looking at them, keeping some, and throwing others away.

"Why are you throwing away so many nails," asked his companion.

"Because they have the head on the wrong end."

"You fool, those are for the other side of the house."

Two vacationists, meeting at the first tee of a hotel golf course, formed a two-some. Or the ninth hole one of them said, "That's my wife over there playing with an old hag she dredged up somewhere."

The second man replied casually, "You know, I was about to say the same thing."

A young soldier lost his rifle. Brought before the colonel, he was told he'd have to pay for it.

"Suppose I lost a tank, sir?" asked the soldier.

"Surely, I wouldn't have to pay for that."

"Yes," replied the colonel. "Even if it took the rest of your army career to do it."

"Gosh," said the soldier. "Now I know why a captain goes down with his ship."

A man, asking for work in a Philadelphia railroad yard, said that he was willing to do anything.

"Okay," said the foreman. "Take this oil can and oil all the switch points and crossings up the line."

Two months later, the foreman received this telegram: "Dear Sir: Arrived at Chicago. Please forward more oil."

Two cowboys were talking. One said, "My name's Tex."

Second one says, "You from Texas?"

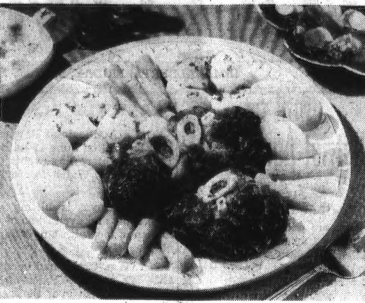

First one answers, "Nope, I'm from Louisiana, but who wants to be called Louise?"

Prospective Employer: You say, sir, you were at your last place for 23 years? Why did you leave?

Prospective Employee: I was paroled.

APPETIZING RECIPES

BEEF SHANKS WITH VEGETABLES

1 to 2 pounds cross-cut beef shanks

Water to cover

4 teaspoons salt

1 bay leaf, 4 whole cloves

3 large carrots, quartered

4 medium potatoes, quartered

2 medium onions, halved

Place shanks in large kettle and cover with water. Add salt, bay leaf, cloves and celery and simmer slowly for 2 hours.

Add vegetables and continue cooking for about 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

Serve meat with homemade sauce. 4 servings. (Cool cooking liquid, refrigerate in a covered jar and use as the basis for gravies, soups or for cooking vegetables.)

A pot roast is always a flavorful dish. Try cutting beef chuck into individual servings and cook to tenderness. Serve with noodles and a gravy of thickened tomato juice seasoned with celery salt and Worcestershire sauce.

Poultry Jubilee meet, Saskatoon opens June 23

REGINA.—W. H. Horner, Saskatchewan deputy minister of Agriculture, will officially open at Poultry Jubilee Conference in Saskatoon, June 23.

The conference will be sponsored by the Saskatchewan Poultry association and will be highlighted by the attendance of distinguished visitors who were associated with early poultry industry in the province. It will last for two days.

Among those to be present will be Prof. E. A. Lloyd, the first poultry graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, who is now in California; A. D. Davey, chief of the federal marketing and production services; Dr. Hedley Auld, former provincial deputy minister of Agriculture, and Dr. George Jaap, a distinguished graduate of the University of Saskatchewan now at Ohio State University.

A program for turkey producers is being arranged by P.M. Blakely secretary of the Saskatchewan Turkey association.

Further particulars may be obtained by writing E. M. Campbell, secretary of the Saskatchewan Poultry association, department of Agriculture, Regina.

GARDEN NOTES

Cultivating easier, quicker if long-handled tools used

Cultivation of the garden, even a large one, need not and should not be a back-breaking chore. It is amazing how much easier and quicker the job is done with tools that have long handles. Of course, for getting in close to tiny flowers or vegetables, for weeding and a few other delicate jobs, it may be necessary to get down on knees or knee pads but with a little care a great deal of the ordinary cultivating and planting jobs can be handled with a minimum of stooping.

Keep planting

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on spinning out the planting. It is much better to plant a little every week for a month or so than to try and get everything in at once. There is no good reason why most vegetable and a lot of flowers cannot be planted for many weeks yet and this gradual planting will produce far more satisfactory results than sowing or setting out all at once.

The vegetable garden particularly, should be planted gradually with only a portion of the carrots, beets, beans, corn, etc., sown at one time.

In the flower line, experienced gardeners will sow such things as sinningias, petunias, asters, cosmos and other annuals in little pots here and there in the flower garden. When these come up they will leave only a few plants in the original position and transplant the surplus to other parts of the garden.

Handled carefully, these transplants will come along almost as quickly as those left untouched and thus a large flower garden can be planted at trivial cost.

Not too deep

Almost every one is inclined to plant far too deeply. With tiny seedlings such as lettuce, carrots, cosmos, zinnias, poppies, and alyssum, which are not much larger than the head of a pin or single nail, it is not necessary to cover at all. We sow these in the finest soil and merely press in.

Then, if possible, we keep the soil dampened until germination starts. With larger seeds such as nasturtiums, peas, beans and corn, one should cover lightly, say a quarter to half inch. With bulbs or corms of gladioli, dahlias, or potatoes, one plants four to eight inches deep.

3 different Cheese-flavored Treats from One Basic Dough!

BASIC CHEESE DOUGH

Scald
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons shortening
Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. In the meantime, measure into a large bowl:
½ cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon granulated sugar and stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with contents of 1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.
Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir mixture. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Clever one-oven tricks with FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST!
One dough—one oven—three kinds of flavor-thrilled baking! It's easy to be a whiz when you start with Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Rising so sure, so fast—remains so light and appetizing! If you bake at home, be sure you have plenty of Fleischmann's on hand.

1. CHEESE LOAF

Shape half a batch of dough into a loaf and fit into a greased bread pan about 4½ by 8½ inches. Grease top. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°, about 40 minutes—cover loaf with brown paper during latter part of baking to avoid crust becoming too brown.

2. MARMALADE BRAID

Roll out a quarter of a batch of dough into an 8-inch square on a lightly-floured board. Spread with ¼ cup marmalade and sprinkle with ¼ cup chopped nuts. Roll up jelly-roll fashion; seal edge and ends. Roll out into an oblong 9 inches long and 3 inches wide.

3. CHEESE BREAD STICKS

Cut a quarter of a batch of dough into 12 equal-sized strips and roll, one at a time, into slim strips about 7 inches long. Brush strips with water and roll lightly in cornmeal. Place, well apart, on greased cookie sheet. Grease top. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°, about 20 minutes.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

MR. ROHAN SEES THE LIGHT

By MYRON J. BIENSTOCK

ROD COOPER tucked his empty right sleeve back into his pocket, and glanced apprehensively at the house numbers above the door. Twelve-zero-four, the letter in answer to his application had said. This was it, the imposing residence of Joseph Rohan, the almost legendary head of Inter-American Steel, one of the greatest steel mills in the country.

He squared his shoulders, swept an unruly strand of hair back into place, and pressed the bell. His lean, sensitive face was tense, a worried look in his dark eyes. The door opened, and a maid looked at him questioningly.

"My name is Cooper," he said. "Mr. Rohan is expecting me."

"Will you come in, please?" she replied, staring at his empty sleeve.

He flushed angrily, and stepped into the hall.

"You may wait here, sir," she said. "I'll see if Mr. Rohan is busy." She disappeared through a door at the opposite end of the hall. "Go right in, sir," she said quietly, when she returned. "Mr. Rohan will see you now."

Rod stepped through the carved oak door into a large, well-appointed study. The walls were paneled in dark oak with rows upon rows of heavy books in shelves running half way to the high ceiling. A deep Persian rug muffled his steps. The partially drawn blinds reduced the study to semi-darkness.

"Step right over here, Mr. Cooper," came a mild, clear voice from the man in a chair in the corner. "Sit down, and we'll talk business."

As Rod approached the deep leather chair, a sharp bark stopped him. A large, handsome dog was stretched out in front of him, eyeing him suspiciously. He skirted the animal, and sank into the chair.

"Don't mind Champ," Rohan said. "He's suspicious of everybody. We're very attached to each other."

He laughed good naturedly. "He never leaves my side for a minute. Why, he even goes to the plant with me." He paused a moment.

"I guess you think it's strange to call you here for this interview, Mr. Cooper. But it's not my usual custom," he continued. "I'm recovering from a rather nasty cold, and won't be able to get back to the offices at the plant for another few days. You see," he added, "I like to take a personal interest in hiring the employees of Inter-American."

He leaned back in his chair, holding his spectacles, a wiry man with full, ruddy face, and thin grey hair. His faded blue eyes darted past Rod, and fastened on the wall.

"Tell me son, how was it over there?" he asked. "I see from your letter of application you were in the Pacific. Pretty rough, I suppose."

Rod laughed, a harsh, guttural sound in the quiet room. "Yes, Mr. Rohan, it was pretty rough. Nothing I could recommend for the kiddies."

"Oh yes, sorry, Rod," he paused uncomfortably, and after a moment, continued. "Hope you don't mind if I call you Rod?" He raised his eyebrows questioningly.

"No, sir. That's quite all right."

"Well, then, suppose we get down to business," the old man continued. "I see you worked for the Grey Company for four years. Why didn't you go back to your job?"

"They went out of business, sir. That lets me out, I'm afraid."

"How were you doing there, son?" Rohan asked, his eyes shifting back to Rod, and then down to the desk. "What position did you hold?"

"Well, sir, I started as a junior accountant," Rod answered, and rose to assist to the head of the department by the time I entered the service."

"Hmum," murmured the old man, "that's travelling quite a distance in three or four years, wasn't it? Of course," he continued rapidly, "I don't think you'll advance as quickly in my organization. We're rather large, you know. But I think you know we don't hesitate to reward good work."

He paused, and eyed with the letter on his desk popped out.

"There's one thing that makes me hesitate, Rod," he continued. "Less sugar? You say in your letter of application that you lost an arm in the service. Were you right or left handed, son?"

"Cold hands of sweat popped out on Rod's forehead. It was the same question they all asked. How many personnel managers had he seen? A dozen? More? He could still see the looks in their eyes as they shook their heads. "We'll keep you in mind if there's an opening," they would say, as they coughed politely.

Couldn't they realize that it was more than just a job, to him? More than just getting back into the routine? He felt, deep inside him, that it was his Holy Grail. Its capture would signify that he was not a useless hulk of a man, a burden on the community; an object of pity from which people averted their eyes.

"No, they never put it into words, those personnel men. 'Not enough experience, as they turned their eyes from that empty sleeve.' Suddenly a new thought flashed on him. He would tell Rohan that he had been left handed. He would tell him that his ability had been impaired. The old man would never know the difference, after the practice he got in the hospital. His left hand was almost as good as his right had been. Besides, the industrialist would no doubt forget about him, once he had been hired.

He opened his mouth to speak, but a light fist grasped his vocal cords. His forehead glistened with perspiration, as he hesitated. That wasn't the way, he thought. It was only a substitute. A lie, which would be constantly eating at his self-respect, and would never give him peace.

"I was right handed, Mr. Rohan," he said in resignation. "I lost my right arm, sir," he said, suddenly pleading. "All I need is a chance to show you I'm not perfect yet, but I can keep accounts fairly legibly, writing left handed." He paused, watching the old man. Rohan's face remained impassive. He fumbled with the letter, and rubbed his hand over his chin.

The same as all the rest, Rod thought. They won't even look directly at me. Probably thinking of the easiest way to say it. He laughed bitterly to himself.

The old man looked up suddenly. "Mr. Cooper," he stated, "suppose you report for work on Monday."

Rod leaned forward, his eyes wide, as the words crashed home

Federal health grants totalling $63,500 allotted to Alberta

OTTAWA — Hon. Paul Martin, minister of National Health and Welfare, has confirmed that the federal government has allotted Alberta more than $63,500 under the terms of the National Health program.

A grant of $10,700 will help provide the necessary funds to equip a virus centre in the provincial laboratory at Edmonton. The virus centre will take on some of the routine investigations now being conducted by the laboratory of hygiene at Ottawa. This will enable the Ottawa laboratory to function as a consultant and reference institute. The Edmonton centre will be under the direction of Dr. C. E. Ames, who is a widely recognized expert in virology.

Helpful Hints

A fit of sneezing can be stopped by swallowing three or four tablespoonfuls of milk very slowly.

Less sugar will be required when stewing fruit if one teaspoonful of lemon is added to every pound of fruit.

When baking potatoes, first grease them with a little butter and they will be brown and crisp with a nice glazed appearance.

To add a "touch of the south" to chicken gravy, stir 1 tablespoon of peanut butter into each pint of gravy.

Gum camphor laid among books on the shelves, or any haunts of mice, will keep them away.

Mix 15 drops of solution of ammonia and a half pint of spirit of turpentine. Put the gloves on and apply the mixture with a brush, repeating until clean. Then hang in the air to dry.

When it is desired to cool a hot dish or pudding, or any other hot food quickly, set it in a pan of cold water which has been liberally salted.

To him. "You mean I'm... I'm hired?" His voice lifted eagerly. "I don't know how to thank you, I..."

"You don't have to thank me, son," the industrialist laughed. "I know you'll do well at the job." He smiled. "Reminds me," he said reminiscently, "of the time I asked for a chance, some 25 years ago."

He called to the dog, and when the animal approached, he bent over and ran his hand over its body, until he touched the heavy harness.

"Come on, Champ," he said. "Let's show Rod to the door."

In restricted area

Persons found using minnows for bait will be prosecuted

PRINCE ALBERT.—A sweeping extension of carp control marks the only major change in Saskatchewan's sport fishing regulations this year, Resources Minister J. H. Brockbank has announced.

He said newly passed regulations extend the area in which minnows and other small fish cannot be used as angling bait to cover all waters below the 50th parallel of north latitude.

This northern boundary represents a line running from Prince George on the Alberta border, east across Saskatchewan some 150 miles north of Prince Albert to the Manitoba border, just north of Flin Flon.

Mr. Brockbank said this control measure had been written into fisheries regulations in an effort to prevent the spread of carp in the province. This destructive fish is highly detrimental to game species, and in Saskatchewan, has already been found in the Assiniboine river and in the Qu'Appelle and Crooked Lakes in the Roundwater area.

Last year, the fisheries branch set up a 25,000 square mile area in southern Saskatchewan, where use of all small fish as bait was prohibited, in an initial move to head off invading carp. Mr. Brockbank said it was now necessary to extend this measure of control to cover all of central and southern Saskatchewan.

He warned that any person found using minnows or other small fish as bait for angling in this portion of the province would be prosecuted. "We cannot afford to be lenient here," he said.

Explaining the necessity for the new carp control regulation, Mr. Brockbank said anglers could easily mistake carp fingerlings for harmless minnow species. Taking these fingerlings from one water area and using them as bait in another was "the surest way" of spreading carp, he said.

'Metropolis' reduced to white cairn

EDMONTON.—A decaying house and church, a child's grave and a white cairn overlooking the Peace river—all that remain of an old trading post in northern Alberta.

These sparse clues of civilization mark Fort Duvergne, established as a trading post in 1800 although its history dated back to 1783 when it was visited by Alexander MacKenzie and David Thompson.

It was the year after the Edmonton, Duvergne and British Columbia Railway was granted a charter in 1913 that Fort Duvergne gained wide, if somewhat dubious fame. Promoters in Edmonton and other cities advertised "Duvergne City" as the new "metropolis of the Peace river" with lots for sale at $100 to $200 on easy terms.

Many residents of Britain and the United States invested in land in the mythical city, pictured as having paved streets and sidewalks. Some came to visit their property. None stayed.

The old fort was gradually abandoned and any brief prominence it attained had faded by 1918 when it was listed as a trading post and sold as farm land to Robert Peters.

Thatched bird houses have a certain quaintness about them that seems fitting for a bird's home. We seldom see them any more in this country since small kegs and boxes are no longer used for packing nails, butter and other wares. There are lots of round metal containers available that make attractive bird houses when thatched and painted to look like the old time wooden ones. Pattern 342 shows how to make a variety of thatched nesting places for wrens, blue birds, purple martins and many others that brood in the middle latitudes. The thatching process is really quite simple. Each step is shown with large diagrams on the pattern which readers may order for 35c from this address.

WHERE DOES THE DOLLAR GO ?

Everyone likes to keep track of the money he earns.

At Imperial Oil, accountants keep close tab on every dollar the company receives. Auditors and government tax people double check. Of every dollar of Imperial's income last year...

About 52 cents went to purchase raw materials including crude oil (we pay freight charges out of this too).

Roughly 30 cents went in operating and administrative costs, including the wages of Imperial's 13,000 employees.

10 cents went in taxes to federal, provincial and municipal governments. (This did not include provincial road taxes.)

About 4 cents went back into the business to help replace worn-out equipment and provide for future needs.

About 4 cents went in dividends to the company's shareholders.

Alberta Hotel Association Scholarships For 1955

Three major Jubilee scholarships tenable at the University of Alberta and four at the Banff School of Fine Arts will be awarded this year by the Alberta Hotel Association in addition to the annual scholarships offered by the organization.

Each of the university Jubilee scholarships will be for $1,000 to cover a three-year period of study, one to be competed for by students resident in Edmonton or Calgary, one by students in the Northern Zone of the province and one by students in the Central and Southern Zones. The scholarships will be administered by the University of Alberta.

To further commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Province, the Scholarship Selection Committee granted an additional $1,000 to the Banff School of Fine Arts, bringing the total to $3,000 this year. The Jubilee awards will go to outstanding students in the fields of music, drama, painting and languages.

All of the scholarships offered by the Alberta Hotel Association are competed for by students resident in Alberta only. Applications are now being received by Donald Cameron, director of the Banff School, for the 1955 session from July 4 to August 13 inclusive and winners will be announced shortly.

PLAIN TALK

from—
DR. F. MACNEILL SMITH
Liberal Candidate

The Liberal grain marketing policy has been worked out in close collaboration with the leaders of the various farm movements. The aims are to maintain prices at a level preserving a fair relationship between the return from agriculture and other occupations, and to carry on a selling policy disposing of as much exportable grain to as many countries as possible. Marketing of wheat, oats and barley has been placed in the hands of the Winnipeg Exchange. As a result, a reasonable uniform price has been maintained, all producers have been treated alike, both in price and quota, and export markets have been maintained by supplying grain of high quality at a reasonable price. Sales to export markets are up considerably this year; sales to the United Kingdom are already more than for the whole of last year, and Mr. Howe stated in the House of Commons that he confidently expects that any producer who has grain of any kind that he wishes to market will be able to dispose of it all before the crop year ends on July 31. A vote for the Liberal party is a vote for the Wheat Board.

Towns, Villages Enjoy Best Traffic Record

Canadian towns and villages are showing Canadian cities the way to greater traffic safety. By far the smallest number of accidents occur in towns and in villages and at rural intersections. The National Highway Safety Conference concludes in an analysis of road traffic accidents.

Using a special study of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the National Highway Safety Conference points out that in Ontario during 1953, 10 percent of road accidents occurred in towns and villages, compared with 41 percent in cities, 28 percent on highways and 21 percent on county and township roads. More than two-thirds of these accidents occurred in clear weather when the road was dry.

There is nothing in the road accident record to encourage complacency, the National Highway Safety Conference points out.

"The record of our losses in human and material resources amounts to a national problem which only the concerted action of all of us can solve."

Canada's first National Highway Safety Conference is being held in Ottawa, May 24-26, with delegates in attendance from all of the 10 provinces. Agriculture will be represented by a large contingent. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will be chairman of the delegate division on agriculture; vice-chairman is J. A. Ferguson, president, Ontario Federation of Agriculture; secretary, Colin C. Groat, Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

EXPECT TOO MUCH FROM SCHOOLS?

MONTREAL—Dr. S. R. Laycock, former dean of education at the University of Saskatchewan, says parents expect too much from Canada's high schools.

"They expect teachers to take a curriculum and . . . turn out students of widely-varying abilities as equally good scholars," he said.

"The public has never faced up to the implications of individual differences in ability among children. The son of a lawyer, a doctor or a business executive may have very poor ability for abstract studies, and yet the father insists on the child taking these courses and expects a teacher to make him an A-1 student."

Dr. Laycock was addressing members of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations.

Last Wheat Payment 6.38c a Bushel

OTTAWA—Final wheat pool payments to Prairie farmers for the 1954-55 crop year will total $25,411,407, Trade Minister C. D. Howe told the Commons on Monday.

Howe announced an average final payment per bushel of 6.38 cents—one of the lowest final payments in the post-war period. It brought the total net payment for No. 1 Northern wheat to $1,564,236 per bushel, which Prairie members of Parliament labelled as "disappointing."

By its original charter the Hudson's Bay Company had the right to make war or peace in its Canadian territories against any prince or people who were not Christians.

Since 1939 spending by the combined provincial governments has increased about five times of the federal government about nine times.

BILL IRVINE Says:

"Canada, far from being one of the most advanced countries in social security measures, is far behind Britain, the Scandinavian countries and Germany, especially in health services. Such advance as Canada has made is due to the CCF."

"The CCF is not a 'splinter party.' It did not split off from any other party. It was born of the people to help meet their needs."

"Dr. Smith says the caucus makes the party policy. But the truth is that the government's policy is not made in caucus; it is pretty largely dictated by the monopolies who finance the parties. But, policies ARE ENDORSED by the caucus, and woe betide any party man who opposes them! Occasionally, however, public opinion inspired and led by a Woodsworth, a Coldwell or a Douglas, creates policies which no party in power dares to ignore. That is how Canada got its start on social security."

"Bruce Hutchison, a prominent Liberal and author, probably knows more about the making of Liberal party policy than either Dr. Smith or the Farm and Ranch Review. He unhesitatingly gives the credit to Woodsworth and the CCF in his biography of MacKenzie King. He says this:

"Though Woodsworth was doomed to fail by the test of elections, . . . he was to become the most influential figure of his time in Canada, and NO MAN INFLUENCED KING SO MUCH. For it was Woodsworth and what he represented that encouraged and then drove King leftward. Woodsworth as much as King was the architect of the New Liberalism." Well, Liberals still need more encouragement of that kind and they still need to be driven out of their complacency.

"The CCF will not always be a minority party in the House nor the voice merely pointing the way to the Liberals. That is the role the British Liberals once assigned to the Labour Party of Britain. Today that Liberal party is in a political museum and the Labour Party, even at the time of its defeat, the most popular party by vote, that Britain has ever known."

The Battle River-Camrose CCF requests your support for Bill Irvine in the by-election on June 20th. His experience in parliament and his outstanding personal ability make him an ideal representative of the people in this constituency.

SPRAY EARLY

Weeds, even when quite young, compete with the growing crop for plant food, moisture, and light. Early treatment of weeds with chemicals is, therefore, recommended if maximum yields are to be obtained. Farmers who are in doubt as to when, best to spray their crops should consult their nearest Agricultural Representative or Experimental Station.

Early dental health habits save pain, annoyance later

If your child follows the usual pattern, he may well be a dental cripple by the time he is in his 40's. Dental disease affects practically everyone at some time. The pain, annoyance and even facial disfigurement of dental decay, for instance, affects 90 to 95 percent of the population.

The most effective approach to the nation's dental disease problem lies in instilling the right kind of dental health habits in children early in life and in making available to them sound preventive measures.

Less sugar
Since sugar is the arch enemy of your child's teeth, one of the basic rules for sound dental health is the elimination of excessive amounts of sugar in the diet. In this regard, the between-meal snack looms as the worst offender. Foods commonly eaten by children between meals often contain dental decay because each snack generates the production of new enamel-destroying acid.

Parents are urged to substitute other foods as nuts, popcorn, potato chips, cheese or fresh fruits when children want to nibble between meals because these foods appease the appetite without adding to the harmful decay-producing acids.

The toothbrush—when used properly—remains one of the most effective weapons for preventing tooth decay. It should be used immediately after eating—especially after the eating of sweets—because the build-up of enamel-destroying acids occurs rapidly after meals and snacks.

Right method
However, the toothbrush can dislodge the sticky food particles only if it is used the right way. Since these food particles are most likely to adhere to areas between the teeth, the best method of toothbrushing concentrates on these.

In cleaning the teeth, the upper teeth should be brushed downward and the lower teeth should be brushed upward. The brushes should be worked between the teeth. The chewing surfaces should also be cleaned as well as the inside surfaces facing the tongue.

A child should be taught to use a toothbrush as soon as all his first teeth have come in, usually between the ages of two and three. He may not do a very good job and his mother or father will probably have to go on with the task afterward, but the groundwork will have been laid for a basic dental health habit at an early age.

MILK SUPPLIES

Raw milk may be dangerous—it may carry the germs of undulant fever, typhoid or paratyphoid fever, septic sore throat or other serious diseases due to infection on the cattle or careless handling of the milk after milking. If pasteurized milk is not obtainable in the country, it is a simple matter to heat the milk to 140 deg. F. and then cool quickly. Local departments of health have a free folder entitled "Safe Milk" which explains home pasteurization methods.

Conference follows Jamboree

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—Leaders of the boy scouts worldwide organization will meet here this summer, the first time they have ever gathered in North America.

They are members of the 57-country Boy Scouts International Conference, representing some 6,000,000 boys and leaders.

The conference will meet here following the closing Aug. 28 of the eighth world scout jamboree at nearby Niagara-On-The-Lake. It meets every two years to promote unity and co-operation in the world scouting movement begun in 1907 by the late Lord Baden-Powell.

Although the conference has 57 member countries, one of the members is Great Britain which represents 47 countries and colonies within the British Commonwealth and E. 47.

Meeting concurrently with the conference will be the 12-member international committee which acts as the executive body of the conference. One of the committee's members is Jackson Dodds of Canada's boy scout organization.

SAFE TO LIVE IN

A surprisingly high percentage of accidents happen in the home. To find the hazards and remedy them, it is a good idea to make periodic surveys of the house and grounds, from basement to roof. Loose boards or steps on the verandah, a projecting nail, broken windows and loose scatter rugs on a polished floor are just a few of the hazards in most homes. In almost all these minor danger spots, a few minutes work will make them safe.

During the earliest centuries of recorded history, legal marriage was not a human birthright, but a special privilege of the ruling classes.

BITE BETWEEN MEALS—Phil Yandak, 42, of Oliphant, Pa., does his best to eat through Chicago's beef supply as waitress Dorothy Johnson brings him still another tray of hamburgers. Total damage inflicted to set what he calls a world's record—77 hamburgers, eight dozen rolls, 24 glasses of milk and six bottles of cola. Yandak works as a coal miner and delivery man to keep himself and family in food; says he pays $130 a week for groceries.

900,000 Trees and cuttings go out to 1,355 Alberta farmers

"As lovely as a tree" is a saying with real meaning for many Albertans—especially for those who have ordered shelterbelt trees. Something over 900,000 trees and cuttings are being expressed to 1,355 Alberta farmers according to Mr. P. D. McCall, Alberta's supervisor of horticulture.

Each farmer who has ordered trees is notified ahead of time that they are on the way. This enables him to arrange to pick up the trees as soon as they arrive at the express office. It is important to get the trees and cuttings into the soil immediately. Good top soil should be packed firmly around the roots of the trees and then they should be watered.

The cuttings should be planted at an angle of 45 degrees or resting against the side of the furrow, with one bud left above the ground. It is advisable to plant the cuttings in moist soil, and like the trees, they should be watered immediately after planting.

Many farmers find, however, that they are not able to plant the trees in their permanent positions as soon as they arrive. These men have found that if they untie the bundles on arrival, and place the trees or cuttings in a trench on the shady north side of a building with the roots covered and packed with moist soil (cuttings completely buried) they are able to prevent drying until they can get to planting.

Funny and Otherwise

It was so tough for Joe to get up mornings that he went to his doctor, who prescribed a pill. Joe took the pill, slept well and was awake before he heard the alarm clock. He dressed and ate breakfast leisurely. Later he strolled into the office and told the boss, "I didn't have a bit of trouble getting up this morning."

"That's interesting," replied the boss, "but where were you yesterday?"

A wife went to court to ask for a divorce. She gave her age as 78 and said that her husband was 82. The judge asked how long she had been married. "Sixty years," she answered. The judge expressed his surprise. "Why do you want a divorce after being together so many, many years?"

She came back emphatically. "Enough is enough!"

A page-boy passed through the lounge of the exclusive hotel. "Young man," remonstrated the manager, sternly, "you should know that it is against the rules of this hotel for an employee to whistle while on duty."

"I'm not whistling, sir," replied the boy. "I'm paging somebody's dog."

Pa kept telling Billy he could save himself grief and expense by trading his old jalopy for a good used tandem bike.

"But," inquired Billy, "what can a guy do on a tandem bike after he's learned to steer with one hand?"

GARDEN NOTES

Regular paths add interest, beauty to any garden

Regular paths will add interest and beauty to any garden, even in the vegetable patch. Where traffic is heavy such as near the door or a gate, it is advisable to use some material like flagstones, concrete slabs, bricks or cinder, or gravel, fine and well pressed down.

With any of these the main thing is to place firmly and level with the surrounding grass, so that the lawn mower will trim or better still run right over. Where the traffic is lighter, one can simply use grass. It is surprising the amount of wear well grown and well nourished grass will stand.

In many public gardens grass paths are used to divide the flower plots and they are seldom worn thin. Where cinder or gravel is used in paths or driveways one can eliminate grass and weeds by sprinkling heavily with rock salt or treating with some of the weed sprays.

Give 'em room

In almost every case where plants are started from seed, and especially tiny seed, like lettuce or alyssum or poppies, they must be thinned later. In doing this naturally we pull out the poorer specimens first but in any case we must leave plenty of room. If we are afraid of later damage from bugs or cutworms perhaps we will leave twice as many plants as at first, then later on we remove every other one.

In certain vegetables like beets and carrots, too, we leave the plants about an inch or so apart at first, then use later thinning for our first meals. When thinned properly the plants left will grow more quickly, and should be healthier.

Thinning is not always confined to seedlings. The extra big and fine blooms you usually see in the flower shows are often the result of thinning. Only in this case it will be the flower buds that are removed.

Instead of letting every single rose, peony, or dahlia develop, the professional nip off about 50 percent or more of the buds so that those that are left will be

INGERSOLL Baby Roll

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Off trail moment

—By LILA LENNON

LYNN turned to Randy Hughes and sighed. "These Arizona sunsets are beautiful, aren't they?"

Randy nodded. "I hope to see a lot of them . . . and of you," he added.

Lynn laughed. "That will be simple enough . . . while you're on the ranch we'll bump into each other often, breakfast, luncheon and dinner."

"How long are you staying?" Randy asked.

"I'm an old dude hand," she replied. "I've been here two weeks, and another two weeks to go."

Randy grinned. "Just getting into this afternoon makes me a brand new dude, doesn't it?"

Lynn turned and looked at him out of the corner of her eye. She liked what she saw . . . very much. Suddenly, the vision of she and Randy riding the horses over the cactus-studded trails . . . the wonderful sunsets . . . it could be perfect!

"Do you ride?" she asked.

Randy frowned. "I . . . used to," he said slowly. "but . . ."

"Think nothing of it!" Lynn interrupted. "You'll soon get used to it. When I first came, I hadn't been on a horse for six years, but it's swell, now!" She added earnestly, "You never really forget how to ride, you know. And, the trails around here are wonderful!"

Randy looked out over the sandy rolling hills. "I'm sure they are."

"You didn't ride up here, did you?" Lynn asked.

"No," Randy replied. "I came with the others, in the station wagon . . ."

"The view from the top of the mountain ridge is something you'll never forget," Lynn said dreamily. "If I saw it with you, I'm sure of that," Randy replied.

Lynn felt little tingles touch her spine. She turned to him eagerly. "Why don't you ride back with me? You can take Short, she's gentle, and we'll go slowly."

"I don't think I'd better do that," Randy said slowly.

"It will be all right," Lynn assured him. "Whenever we have these outdoor suppers we take turns with the horses . . . station wagon one way, and ride back. But, I'm riding both ways tonight, and I can take RedBoy back."

Randy turned to her. "Some other time, Lynn . . . later."

Lynn stared at him. She felt the color rush to her face. "I'm sorry," she said stiffly. "My enthusiasm bubbles over, sometimes."

Randy's voice was low. "Look . . . Lynn . . . The clanging bell drowned out his words. Lynn stood up and brushed the sand from her breeches.

"Chow," she said briefly, and walked swiftly away.

"Dope," she said to herself. "I sure takes a house to fall on you. Get it? He just did what I want to ride with you. Well, Mr. Hughes will wait a good long time before I ask him to ride with me again!"

Lynn kept the length of the long wooden table between herself and Randy. She chatted busily with everyone else, but managed to move out of reach of Randy. Randy came anywhere near her. When it was time to go, Lynn went down to the horses. Out of the corner of her eye, she glanced at Randy. Maybe . . . maybe he'd change his mind. But Randy was keeping a safe distance away.

She mounted RedBoy and rode into the road. Joe, the cowboy, came up and patted RedBoy's nose. "Lynn, don't let him out, he's got a tough mouth, and if he gets going, you won't be able to hold him in . . ."

Lynn and Randy watching her. "I can handle him," she said clearly. She raised her voice. "Who's riding Short?"

"Nobody yet," Joe answered.

Lynn guided RedBoy alongside the station wagon. She turned in the saddle and waved. "See you at the ranch."

The setting sun struck the chrome headlight on the station wagon, and sent a blinding beam glancing off RedBoy's head. Lynn tugged at the reins. She knew instantly that it was no use. RedBoy kicked the dust and started off at a dead run.

Lynn heard a brief shout behind her, and thought she heard the hard thudding of hoof beats, but despairingly she knew it wouldn't matter. RedBoy was the fastest horse on the ranch . . . no one could catch him. She crocheted low in the saddle and hung onto the reins. Her hands burned and the tearing wind clawed at her hair . . . there wasn't time to think of anything then, except staying in the saddle . . . somehow.

RedBoy took the curve at the base of the mountain road with flying ease and pounded uphill to the top. Suddenly, he stopped.

Lynn let her breath go in a sobbing sigh, and turned wearily in the saddle. Short came tearing around the curve and raced uphill with Randy . . . Randy was riding him!

"Are you all right?" he yelled.

"Yes," Lynn called shakily.

Randy reined up and dismounted. "You little fool!" he said sharply. "Why did you let him out?"

Indignation swept over Lynn. "I let him out?" she stormed. "I had nothing to do with it!"

Randy walked over, took the reins and held out his hand. "Here, get off."

Lynn climbed down stiffly. It couldn't be any worse. Randy didn't believe her . . . he probably thought she was . . . oh, well, what did it matter what he thought? She turned to him and stared in amazement.

"What's wrong with your face?" she exclaimed.

Randy grinned briefly. It was a lopsided effect with his eyes swollen almost shut.

"Gruesome, isn't it?" he asked. "But I'm allergic to horses . . . you wouldn't give me a chance to explain."

Lynn sat down weakly. She couldn't think of anything to say. "You know, a moment ago I usually feel he makes a good first impression with his eyes and face swollen," he mused aloud.

"I'm sorry," Lynn murmured. "I thought . . ."

Randy took her hand. "No. You were on the wrong trail, there, Lynn. But there are other trails, aren't there?"

"Yes," she said softly. "Of course."

Victoria Day safe driving being urged

The issuing of a proclamation urging all motorists to give particular care to safe driving over the Victoria Day weekend of May 21, 22 and 23 is announced.

The amount of traffic on highways is increasing steadily from year to year and will be greater than usual during the forthcoming Victoria Day weekend, which is traditionally the first major holiday in which thousands of families take to the highways to visit their summer cottages and other resort areas.

Such heavy traffic often results in accidents which cause property damage, personal injury, loss of life and a waste of resources. Seven-four persons lost their lives as a result of traffic accidents in Saskatchewan during 1954.

A large number of traffic accidents occur because of error and lack of judgment, skill or attention, and could be minimized or eliminated by courteous and good driving attitudes, using safe vehicles and exercising caution.

Traffic accidents represent a major problem and it is deemed advisable to interest individuals and agencies in observing and promoting safety on our roads and streets at all times.

Along with continuing to drive safely, drivers could best celebrate Victoria Day by seeing to it that over this holiday weekend, they are not responsible for any deaths or injuries due to motor vehicle accidents.

From Commonwealth

Most of the unmanufactured tobacco imported by the U.K. in January and February came from Commonwealth countries. They sent 20.6 million pounds which was about two-thirds of the total (32.9 million pounds).

The 1955 Commonwealth figure is made up of 13.2 million pounds from Canada (12.9 million pounds more than in 1954), 5.9 million pounds from Rhodesia-Nyasaland (8 million pounds more) and 1.6 million pounds from India (a slight decline).

Britain's first cordless telephone switchboard has now been brought into use at the Thanet Exchange at Margate. Operators press buttons and keys instead of "plugging in." During busy periods, the calls are automatically "queued" and the Post Office hope that will prevent callers having to wait a long time for a reply.

It all adds up to terrific birthday party for Jubilee

REGINA.—Members of the community activities committee for Saskatchewan's Golden Jubilee met here recently to hear reports regarding Jubilee activities in all parts of the province. They heard details of how cities, towns, villages and rural districts are preparing local celebrations in honor of Saskatchewan's fiftieth birthday.

After the meeting all members agreed that very few places in the province will be without some form of Jubilee observance this summer. Over 200 local Jubilee committees already are organized with active chairmen and secretaries, and many more are organizing this month. It is almost certain that there will be at least 300 local celebrations, with parades, bands, sports, picnics and ceremonies in honor of district pioneers.

Terrific birthday party "It is going to be a terrific birthday party," stated R. L. Stut, chairman of the community activities committee, after the meeting.

In a survey of the whole Jubilee program Fred McGuiness, executive director of the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee committee, said the visit to Saskatchewan, Regina and Moose Jaw from May 13 to May 16 will focus the attention of all Canada on Saskatchewan's celebrations. The four daily newspapers and 99 weeklies are issuing special Jubilee editions at that time for distribution all over the country. The book on Saskatchewan written by Jim Wright will be on newstands this month. A Canada on Saskatchewan will have its premiere about the middle of June. A condensed version will appear on the Canada Carries On series in theatres all across Canada.

A progress report by E. W. McKenzie, director of community activities, regarding community Jubilee programs this summer, was emphasized by a map dotted with colored pins to indicate the places that have their celebration plans well in hand and are just waiting until seeding is over to begin festivities. The map is dotted with pins from top to bottom and from corner to corner. According to Mr. McKenzie it will be the largest province-wide public celebration ever attempted.

Work crews started out early in May to complete the installation of 58 Jubilee markers for historic sites in the province, said Mr. Herbert, Jubilee director for historic sites, announced. Eighteen of these will have full-size Red River carts and an inscription board, 35 will be in the form of rustic markers and five will be bronze tablets. At least 20 public ceremonies are planned for these historic sites. In addition to the Jubilee markers there will be 15 or more historic spots perpetuated by some form of marker erected by private individuals or groups.

Pictorial map A pictorial map showing the historic sites is being issued, said Mr. Herbert, together with a highway map showing the location in relation to main roads. A booklet on historic sites also is being prepared.

As many as 150,000 voices may join in Jubilee songs in schools all over the province on Thursday, May 26, said Neil Harris, Jubilee director for musical productions, in his report to the committee. This is part of the program to "have the whole province singing during Jubilee Year."

The Jubilee Choir is singing at all "A" and "B" fairs and is appearing before as many people as possible. The mighty musical, "Saskatchewan," which is entertaining varied audiences in all parts of the province.

The pageant, "Saskatchewan—The Fiftieth Year," made up of historic narrative and Jubilee singing, is being presented in at least 80 communities, with more requests for the script and songs being received each week.

Special reports on Jubilee programs in their districts were given by Carl Gornstrom, Weyburn, Norman, Rosbeek, Yorkton; R. W. Harris, Gull Lake; Mrs. Anne Cusick, Coderre; Mrs. H. Enslin, Parkman; Miss Emma Stewart and Mrs. Helene Denon, Saskatoon; Bert McKay, Moosemin.

Mrs. I. T. Skiles of Ryley is visiting here at the home of her sister, Mrs. Tomlinson.

Mr. R. H. Simmermon of Edmonton spent last week-end at Irma with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Simmermon.

Further donations to the WMS in memory of the late Mrs. R. L. Eaton have been received from Mrs. Alma Enger; Mr. and Mrs. K. Coffin; Mrs. R. D. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Jones were recent Edmonton visitors.

The WMS will be packing a parcel for Korea in June. Good used clothing and bedding will be very acceptable.

A Variety Concert sponsored by the Senior W.A. will be held on the evening of June 14. Keep the date in mind and watch for posters with further particulars.

Congratulations to Mr. George Manners who has just celebrated his 70th birthday.

Mrs. G. M. Holt of Wainwright was an Irma visitor on Sunday and attended the Camrose Lutheran choir concert held in the school auditorium here.

Mrs. M. M. Tripp has returned to Irma after spending a six month holiday with her sister at Boston.

The Battle River W.I. are having a sale of Home Cooking in the Co-op store on Saturday, May 21.

Irma folk gave a most enthusiastic reception on Sunday afternoon to the lovely program presented by the Camrose College choir in the Irma school. The auditorium was comfortably filled and Mr. Marken and his 53 fine young folk gave a real musical treat. One could only compare the quality of those lovely voices as they sang unaccompanied to the fine tone and harmonies which can be produced by an organ. Every number was most enjoyable but perhaps "Beautiful Saviour"—an old favorite of ours, sounded just a bit more lovely to the Irma folk because Mr. Marken called up the old choir members from the audience and Mrs. A. D. Glasgow, Mrs. L. Setre, Gordon Hollings, Eling Nilson and Ralph Erickson added their voices to those of the choir in this grand old hymn.

The next meeting of the evening group of the W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Merle Knudson. Roll call—A plant slip exchange. Devotional, Mrs. McMillan. Program, Mrs. Prosser. Hostesses, Mrs. Merle Knudson and Mrs. Helen Whidden.

We were glad to receive a letter from Mr. and Mrs. S. Hlynka of Leduc. Olga has completed her year at university and will work for the summer months in an office at Jasper. She will begin her teaching career when the schools open next fall. Johnny is working hard at his grade 12.

Mrs. F. Drewicki is visiting with her mother at Lamont this week.

Attending the U. of A. Graduation ceremonies at Edmonton this week were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Targett and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Masson. Mr. Brian Targett graduated in Education and Industrial Arts. Miss Lillian Masson received her nursing degree and Miss Genevieve Meyer her Bachelor of Arts. Congratulations to these three Irma students.
